As a flight attendant, I think allowing cell phone usage during the flight is a horrible idea. There are many bad reasons against them. Terrorists could use them to coordinate during a flight.
 There also isn't any hard data on the fact that they don't interfere with the communication and navigation systems of the aircraft. And finally just the pure annoyance of having 200 people talking on their cell phones at once. The airplane is already a tight space, with people crammed into their seats and seat backs in their faces and on their knees, and then to add people shouting into their cell phones, not a good idea. Please don't allow cell phone usage on the airplan during flight, thank you for your time.
